FARRIS SELLS DAIRY

Clyde Farris, who has been operating a dairy near Elba for several months notified his customers that he has sold most of his milk cows and will not deliver milk in the city any longer. He will keep enough cows to supply milk to the Elba school in accordance with his contract. Mr. Farris stated that he intended to take advantage of his GI opportunity to attend school.

Mrs. Farris and her father will operate the Farmers Feed & Seed Store in his absence. Farmers in the area report that the past two weeks have been ideal for planting. Most of them say they have good stands of cotton with corn and peanut planting about complete.

NEVELS SAYS IT'S UNFAIR

Obe Nevels who has been nightwatchman at the C. & S. Lumber Company plant for the past four years has been relieved of his duties. Mr. Nevels says he doesn't mind losing his job, but that he and General McArthur were fired about the same time, and whereas General McArthur received thousands of columns of publicity in newspaper all over the world, not a word was printed about Nevels losing his job. He says it's unfair to say the least.

NEW EQUIPMENT

The Community Wash Center, located in West Elba and operated by Mrs. Herbert Morrow, has recently installed five new Maytag washers and a dryer to take care of their clientele. Mrs. Morrow deserves much credit for the successful operation of this enterprise. She announces that on account of Mr. Morrow having a job requiring a car, the pick up and delivery service will be discontinued.

DORSEY IMPROVEMENTS

The large space in front of the Dorsey Trailer plants is being paved. Several of the offices are also being improved. James Horn, former Elba resident, now employed in the State Department of Finance, renewed old acquaintances in Elba last week.

ATTRACTIVE SIGN

One of the most attractive commercial signs in town has been painted on the north side of Bob's Feed & Seed store advertising Bob's Feeds.

SOLD TOO SOON

City Clerk T. D. Kendrick, who is also a farm owner, sold his cattle when his son, J. Doug, took a job in Dale county. Mr. Kendrick went out to the stock sale Thursday to buy more cattle but said they were selling so high he couldn't afford to buy. He said he figured he lost over a thousand dollars by selling then as prices have advanced that much.

METHODIST BULLETINS

A bulletin board has been installed in front of the Elba Methodist Church, the handiwork of Fred Bryan and Mayo Prescott.

PIGGLY WIGGLY BUYS F. F. A. FAT CALF; CUTS ON SALE

The local Piggly Wigglie store purchased the fat calf raised by the F. F. A. club at this high school and now has choice cuts from the animal on sale in their market. Mr. Taylor, store manager, said the project is to encourage the production of choice beef by farmers in this region.

CITY BUILDS SIDEWALK

Street Superintendent Fitzhugh Calhoun and his crew are constructing a concrete sidewalk along the south side of the L. M. West store and in front of Diemukes Motors to Dr. C. P. Street.

POGS AND HAY HIGH

The hog market was up Monday. No ones selling for 21c, the highest in several months. Cattle also brought good prices. Peanut hay is bringing $30 a ton compared to $10 a ton last fall.

ANTE-BELLUM AIR

Wearing her "Rosalie" dress, the 1951 Miss of Cotton, Jeanette Holland of Elba, Texas, looks the typical antebellum Southern belle. Her regally gown is named for "Rosalie," historic ante-bellum home at Jackson, Miss., which now is the state shrine of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Peculiar Fire

The new house belonging to Mr. & Mrs. Elmer Bowman, located on the Elba-Troy highway beyond the livestock market was slightly damaged by fire Wednesday night at 9 o'clock. Fireman Phil English said that workmen had been putting sheet rock on the walls Wednesday afternoon when a fire started which hit directly on the head of another nail, driving it into an electric wire. This caused a short. When firemen arrived, a sheet of blue flame was shooting from the wire. Some 2 X 4 lumber were burned in two and other damage amounting to $25 resulted.

40 Years Ago in Elba

It was discovered that error were made in the passage of the law giving more money to the building and repairing of rural schoolhouses and for their equipment and that these errors rendered the law void.

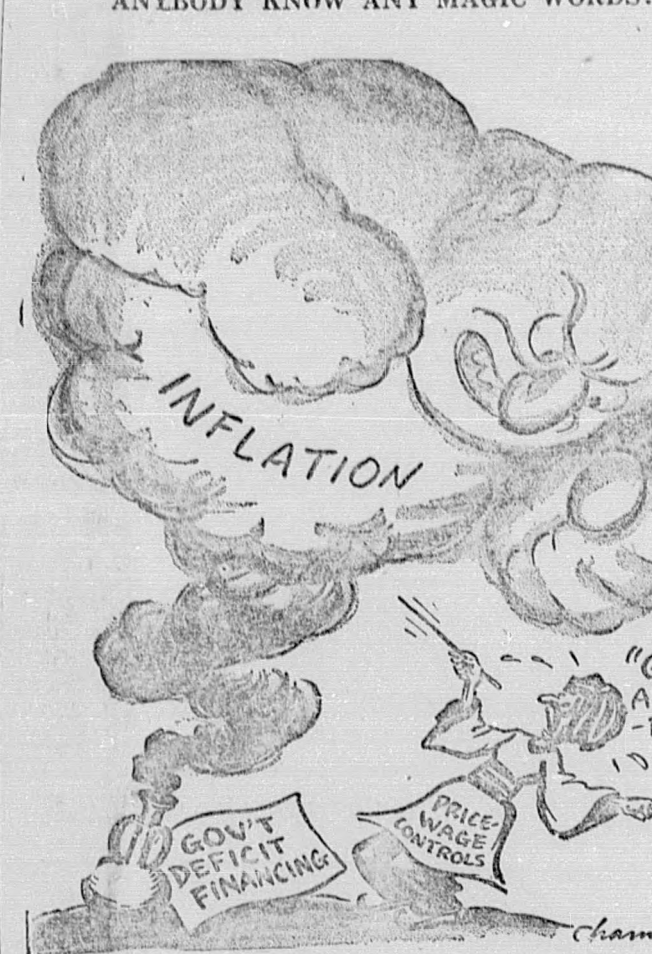

Wednesday morning James Cowen and Julian Davis had a cutting and shooting affray which fortunately ended without serious harm to either of the parties. They had had a dispute some time previously about a land line and Wednesday morning while Cowen was going along the road near Davis' home, he was attacked by the Davis brothers. They cut him slightly on the arm and Cowen shot at them, Julian Davis receiving a flesh wound in the side. All parties have been arrested, charged with assault with intent to murder.

After several days of serious illness, Miss Minnie Blue died Sunday night at 7:30. Her remains were carried to Perdrie in Bullock County Monday for interment. She has been engaged in the hotel business in Elba for a good many years and was very successful. She was a member of the Elba Presbyterian Church and took an active part in its activities. Her life was filled with many deeds of charity and benevolence. Her devotion to her parents was indeed beautiful and in her dying thoughts she remembered her father, Mr. H. Blue, the only member of her family surviving her, and expressed her wishes as to his welfare.

Mr. Wiley Bullard has a cow less than three years old that is giving over three gallons of milk a day. She was raised right here in Elba and did not cost any more to raise than an ordinary six dollar scrub would have cost. Mr. Bullard recently returned $50 for this fine cow.

Several of our town farmers and others are giving considerable attention to hoes and are trying out some of the new forage crops, Lucern, soy beans and rape seem to do well in this section and a surprising amount of such a body.

ANYBODY KNOW ANY MAGIC WORDS?

Miss Wise was the winner of the school district prize for Kingston High School for her typing score of any student in a local contest.

STATE FISH POND WILL OPEN SOON

It is planned to open the Elba fish pond the latter part of May or the first of June, the state fish and game department has announced. Test fishing was done by state agents on two different occasions recently and it was estimated the pond would be ready for angling at that time.

Gordie Clark has obtained the concession rights and will have charge of the pond. A concrete building will be constructed. He is having 25 boats built by Max Reeves for use at the pond. Private boats at the pond will be rented when not in use on a profit sharing basis.

The pond covers nearly 100 acres. Even after the three-inch rain two weeks ago the water remained clear.

Elementary School to Get New Classrooms; City Will Pay Bonds

Elba will get new classrooms to relieve crowded conditions and the city will pay up everything due on a controversial bond issue under terms of an agreement reached Friday by the county school board and Mayor L. P. Mullins.

The controversy between the city and school board stems from a $70,000 bond issue which the Board claims the city is under obligations to pay.

The City agreed to pay $5,500 per year and keep up $500 per month payments to retire the bond issue. In return, the board will arrange to build schoolrooms to relieve overcrowded conditions in Elba schools. Principal S. J. Casey has stated in discussions held to more than 100 beginners enrolling next school term with up place to put them.

The Board also ordered T. M. Stroud to make necessary repairs to the roof of the Elementary School building.

Harold English Goes To Eufaula Meeting

Harold English, Boy Scout instructor representing West Coffee County, returned Sunday evening from Eufaula where he attended a school of instruction at Camp Rotary. The sessions were held on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. English has charge of the troop and patrol meetings for the district composed of Barbour, Coffee, Covington, Dale, Geneva, Henry, Houston, and Pike counties. He said he gained much useful information at the meeting and it is his business to pass it on to scoutmasters and scouts in his area. He is an enthusiastic scout booster and urges all parents of eligible boys to support this program.

The summer camp at Camp Rotary has been unofficially announced for the following dates: June 19-23, Staff Trainings and Work Week; June 24-30, first came period; July 1-7, second; July 8-14, third and July 15-21, fourth. The four periods are used so more scouts will have an opportunity to attend.

Dates on which West Coffee will attend have not yet been set. He said he will attend and hopes to take as many boys as possible.

"The Brain" Comes to Elba in Form of Huge Tabulating Machine

Emergency Aid Insurance Company this week completed installation of a tabulating machine "that will do everything but walk upstairs and install itself in a room," Ross Clark, president of the company, announced.

The huge adding machine will take a column of figures 32 digits wide. If the need arises, it can function simultaneously as four eight column adding machines, eight four column or any variation that is needed.

International Business Machine Corporation is renting the tabulator to the company. It is not possible to buy one. Norman D. Strozier from Montgomery and John Prim, IBM manager in Montgomery, were putting the finishing touches on installing the machine Monday. They will instruct a member of the Emergency Aid staff on the machine's use.

The tabulator is a baby brother of the electronically operated machines used by scientists in solving trajectory problems on Rockets and guided missiles that have to travel many miles to their targets. Elba personnel operating the machine have a more peaceful use for the tabulator though. It will be used by the accounting and policy departments of the company. Up to 80 policies a minute may be processed through the use of cards with holes punched in them.

ELBA TEXTILE ORDER
The Elba Textile Company has been awarded an order to make 50,000 coveralls for the Air Force amounting to $90,000. The contract calls for 4,000 pairs to be delivered in July, 8,000 in August, 8,000 in September, 8,000 in October, 8,000 in November and 11,000 in December.

According to L. P. Mullins the factory which has been closed down for the past two months will begin operations as soon as the government supplies the necessary materials. He said in order to handle this operation, only two or three additional machines will be needed and the plant will employ about the same force as before.

IT WAS A GOAT, HANK!
When I went to the post office Wednesday morning I met Harold English coming out. I told him I just came running over a goat in front of James' store. He asked me if I meant goat or ghost. I insisted it was a goat. Harold went out to investigate and when he returned he said, "No goat, you must have been seeing things." Later, little Scotty Lindsey's goat was captured near the spot I said I nearly ran over it.

PAVING COSTS CHEAP
When I learned the streets in front and alongside of my home were to be paved, and that my footage would be approximately 250 ft., I began figuring the cost and wondered if I could afford to pay it. I was greatly relieved when Mayor Mullins informed me that the paving cost would be only 73 cents per running foot, so now I am heartily in favor of the project.

COURTHOUSE ROOF LEAK
Circuit Solicitor Eris Paul has been complaining about the leak in his office in the courthouse whenever it begins to rain. T. M. Stroud is in charge of the crew making repairs on the roof. It is a new addition to the northeast corner of the building. This part of the courthouse was constructed in 1925. Mr. Stroud was showing state shingles taken from the defective roof. Their edges crumbled like ashes when handled. Mr. Stroud said he had never before seen state shingles deteriorate like that and would not have believed it possible if he hadn't seen them. A state report is supposed to last indefinitely, he said.

REEVES MAKING 25 BOATS
The Reeves Furniture Company in West Elba is a busy place these days. Twenty-five boats are being made for Gordon Clark to be used at the fishing boat on June 1. A number of individuals are also planning to place boats on the pond. Local fishermen are looking forward with anticipation to the pond's opening. It should be quite a saving in gasoline, tires, time and money involved in making the trips to Florida.

RUSSIAN PREACHER TELLS ABOUT RUSSIA
Rev. Basil A. Malot, president of the Russian Bible Society, Inc., Washington, D. C., delivered an interesting discourse at the Methodist Church Wednesday night to a large audience. He told about the terrible conditions existing in Russia—how approximately five million Communist leaders are in the clutches of 165,000,000 unwilling people.

He said there are millions of Russians who have never seen a pig but are hungry for them. The organization is encouraging large numbers of Bibles into Russia and getting them into the hands of the people.

Ancient Sport of Cock Fighting Has Converts in This County

By Paul E. Cunningham

While modern sports such as baseball and football grab the spotlight, a small group of Coffee Countians engage in one of the most ancient pastimes that is known to man—that of cock fighting. Unheralded, and practically unknown, but with as much fervor as a Dodge fan, these men engage in a sport formerly limited to kings and nobility.

Most of the fans are veterans and relatively new to the game. They have taken it up since the war. But they have taken it up in a workmanlike manner, secured a good breed, raised them properly and conditioned them well before battle.

Several persons living on farms have flocks of from 50 to 100 game cocks and hens. The cocks crowd out their defiance of each other and the world from conditioning pens scattered over the farms. From the time the roosters are about nine months old, they are to be separated from a hen.

COCKS FARMED OUT

Keeping the cocks apart would require a lot of pens, if the men hadn't developed the system of farming them out. Friends of the county take a rooster and keep it with their flock until it is needed. Some farmers like to get a game cock strain running through their flock. A yard mixed with a game cock has tendency to stand around waiting to be fed. He will get out and scratch for food.

Lots of work and record-keeping are necessary if a person wants to breed a fighting cock that will win his share of the battles. The only eggs that are hatched come from crows where a cock that has proven his value in the pits is mated with a hen whose male parents were good fighters.

Individuality is given each

Two fighting cocks are shown in action on a Coffee County farm. Prior to a fight, the cocks are sparred with each other. At that time they wear small boxing gloves on their spurs to keep them from inflicting serious injury on each other. The birds are rigidly conditioned before being allowed to enter the pits for a fight.

bird at birth with a little round punch. By making a hole in the web between the toes of each chick, their parentage is recorded. A small black notebook with a diagram of the chick's foot showing where the holes are punched also lists the family tree of the bird.

Inbreeding is practiced by most cockers. The flock of one man in the county can be traced back to two hens and a cock. Brothers and sisters, father and daughter, mother and son, are mated together. Under this system, characteristic weaknesses are produced in greater proportion than good characteristics. Close watch has to be kept so that fowl that have suffered from serious illnesses are never bred. Also, this makes for a nervous bird that keeps on the move in his pen.

CONDITIONING
Prior fighters have no more a rigid routine before a bout than game cocks handled by a true devotee of the sport.

Five weeks before the cock is scheduled to go to the pits, he is picked up from the country and put in a conditioning pen. He is deloused, dubbed (comb wattles and ear lobes cut off), put on a strict diet and has his spurs trimmed. In three weeks he is brought to his fighting weight.

Conditioning takes place the last 14 days prior to the fight. The cock is run back and forth on a pad about six feet in length from 50 to 75 times each day. Then he is thrice thrown into the air—by some handlers, while others say this is the worst thing to do to a bird.

Small pads are put on the cock's spurs for sparring. This is important to the handler as he must know how to attach the spurs to fit the bird's method of fighting.

In mitching, a handler won't fight his bird with another unfamiliar bird.

40 Years Ago in Elba

One of the most delightful parties of the season was given by Mrs. M. S. Carmichael to the members of her Sunday School class and a few others last night at her beautiful new home on Davis street. The feature of the evening was a "dame supper" which had been prepared and cooked without a word. The first one caught talking were the job of washing dishes and before the supper was finished there were more dishwashers than anything else.

Among those attending were Misses Claudine Rushing, Alice Boyd, Beale Ross, Clyde Kinney, Sue Rainer, Mary Ann Ham, Emmie Kate Andrews, Gus Hendrick, Mrs. Barkley, Conny May, Horace Brock, Henry Ellis, Remo Brown, Oscar Laird, Seth Blue, Oates Rowe, Jay P. Bowd and Prof. Hudson.

Basin Community Wins High Award

The Basin Community received an excellent community rating April 6 from P. O. Davis, A. P. I. extension service director.

The rating was awarded on the basis of community programs and activities carried out in 1950. Project included commercial crops, home gardens and orchards, home beautification and community improvement and community organization.

The commendation was presented to L. B. Moody, acting chairman, during 1950. Mr. Moody said how the club earned the commendations for the past three years and that the one awarded this year was the highest rating of all. State Senator H. B. Lusk presented a talk on Communism.

English Brothers Have to Battle Storm Thugs.

James and Lucius English had a thrilling experience they had in Gunt Lake last Thursday evening. They were fishing in the pond when the wind storm came up so suddenly they had no time to escape. They said when the wind began to blow "great guns" and the whitecaps began to roll, they headed their boat into the wind with the motor at full throttle. By expert manipulation they reached shore where they found a man in a rowboat clinging to the bushes for dear life. They towed him to safety. James said he saved his hat by hugging it to his chest and the water he believed he could have gone floating on the surface.

Graduating exercises of Elba High School were held last night with a large audience present. There were seven graduates: Karon Venable Shetley, salutatorian; Miss Virginia Paul, valedictorian; Miss Virginia Paul, valedictorian; Miss Virginia Paul, valedictorian.

Missing Man Sought in County by F. B. I.

John A. Hill, owner of a car involved in an accident near Elba April 7, is still missing, according to Sheriff H. D. Tullman. He and the F. B. I. are continuing the search for the missing man who lives in Roberts, Ga.

A man identified as Desmond Miles, 35, of Covington County, is serving a 30-day jail sentence after pleading guilty to driving while intoxicated in connection with the accident. Sheriff Tullman said.

Blood found in the car was found to be animal, so suspicion of foul play was allayed. Sheriff Tullman said Miles left the scene of the accident after the car overturned. He was arrested by Covington County on April 29 and returned to Elba. He pleaded guilty to the drunk driving charge Saturday and was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

HOME BREW NOT STRONG IN ELBA

Mayor L. P. Mullins says he is continually confronted with the job of deciding intricate legal problems. For instance, a local citizen was recently found in possession of a batch of home brew which he had just started to make at his home across the river. He claimed it was no home brew as it had not fermented. City Attorney C. L. Rowe was consulted and he ruled it was home brew as it contained alcohol which had not and was not fermented.

The defendant claimed he used it for medicinal purposes for himself as he had a bad stomach. The product was not to compete with premium beers. Mayor Mullins told him he would fine him $54 and could make it $104. The home brewer paid the $54.

Then a taxi driver was apprehended for having a case of beer in his car. He claimed he picked up a passenger and allowed him to put the beer in his car. Mayor Mullins explained it was a violation of law to haul beer into a dry county and the fine was $84. Maximum penalty was $104 and revoking the taxi permit. The beer transporter decided to pay the $84.

Trees Uprooted

A large tree was uprooted across the street from Rev. Walter Moody's home and fell across the power line. Transformer fuses were blown, necessitating the shutting down of electric power in the city for about two hours. Street Department was on duty when the storm was moving. When the sub-station was moved some time ago, the fuses were misplaced, which was the cause for the power being off for so long. No great damage was done to the equipment, Mr. Dorman said.

The wind whipped under the roof of J. D. Smith's garage and gutted several feet. When it fell back, it damaged the top of the family car. Mr. Smith said fortunately no glass was broken and the damage was repaired.

CROPS DAMAGED

The heaviest damage done by the storm was to growing crops. Farmers from all over the area report that corn was badly damaged, especially to rows running alongside to the wind. The sand drifted about the little cotton stalks and seemed to burn them so that they turned brown and died. It is thought most of them will revive with favorable weather. Where the cotton rows ran parallel with the wind and were protected by terraces, the damage was slight.
